

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Aviano Middle School, home of the Patriots. Aviano Middle School is well known for having a friendly and cohesive student body, exceptional faculty and outstanding academic program. We have great pride in our school!

School year 2007-2008 promises to be one filled with excitement, challenge, change, achievement, and success. Our highly competent and professional staff will provide a challenging curriculum while communicating high expectations for all students. We challenge every student to seize the opportunity to learn in our safe school environment under the direction of skilled and caring teachers. We encourage our students to take advantage of the educational opportunities being offered in our small school. This is a wonderful time to develop work habits, knowledge and inter-personal skills that will lead to success in future years.

Parents can support their child and the school by reinforcing the importance of education and playing an active role in their child's educational life. The effort put forth by your child in classes will establish lifelong habits of work, study, organization, punctuality, task completion and goal setting. Our combined efforts will ensure your child's success in all of these areas.

I encourage you to visit the school frequently. Stop by and join your child for lunch. Attend school activities in which your child participates. Join and support our school's PTSA. Your presence and active participation will show your child that you are interested in and value the educational process and your child's achievement.

During the course of the year, please contact our teachers or the administrative team if you have a concern or compliment. We want your child's experience in school to be positive and successful. We are looking forward to a great school year!

Debra K. Johnson, Ed.D.
Principal